

Kodkod

País/ Mission still red wine

Grape varieties

100% País. Un-grafted, head pruned vineyards established before 1900 according to official records. Hand-harvested on March 8th, 2022.

Appellation

The vineyards are planted on gentle slopes of the hills of the Coastal Range, less than one kilometer away from the Maule River. For this wine a particular area of the vineyards was chosen, with small and perfectly ripen berries.

Winemaking and History

Santa Rosa de Lavaderos is family-owned farm in a valley protected by the first hills of the Coastal Mountain Range, the rivers Maule and Loncomilla. In these hills, there's a reservation of native forest, where among other vulnerable species dwells the Kodkod (the smallest wild cat of the world).

In the valley, each small owner had vineyards with País grapes, the first variety to reach America from Europe. This wine was carefully made by a third generation family member.

Tasting notes and technical details

Aromas of fennel. A rather full-bodied and dark-colored País, a wine with a lot of character, with a subtle touch of French Oak due to barrel aging. This wine received 93 points by "Descorchados", also the 2020 version achieved 18/20 at jancisrobinson.com

Alcohol By Volume: 12.5%

pH: 3.90

TA: 5.24

Residual sugar: 2.9 g/L